

National African HIV Initiative (NAHI)

NAHI is an African-led initiative, comprised of organizations from across the United States, dedicated to improving the health outcomes of African immigrants and refugees living in the US by enhancing HIV prevention, education, and care through culturally competent advocacy, education, and research.

National Committee Members:

- Juliet Berk, Lowell Community Health Center (LCHC), Lowell, MA
- Jay Blackwell, Office of Minority Health—Resource Center (OMHRC) Washington D.C.
- Stella Gran-O'Donnell, Department of Public Health (DPH), Seattle, WA
- Frenk Guni, Community Health Partners, Washington D.C.
- Margaret D. Korto, Office of Minority Health—Resource Center (OMHRC), Washington D.C.
- Amanda Lugg, African Services Committee (ASC), New York, NY
- Chioma Nnaji, Multicultural AIDS Coalition (MAC)—Africans For Improved Access (AFIA), Boston, MA
- Mummy Rajab-Gyagenda, Prevention Effectiveness Consortium On Health And Education (PECHE), Atlanta, GA

You are cordially invited to the New England Regional National African HIV Initiative (NAHI) Summit

Friday, February 8, 2008
9:00am—4:00pm

Crowne Plaza—Worcester
10 Lincoln Square
Worcester, MA 01608

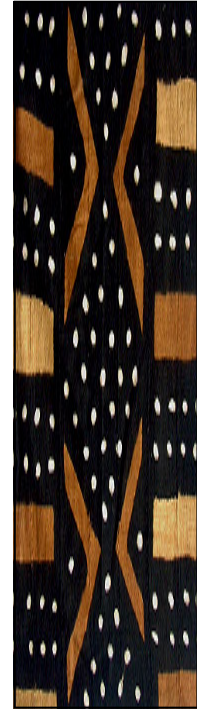

Continental Breakfast and Lunch will be served.

Please RSVP by January 14th
Call 617-238-2419 or email NAHINE@mac-boston.org
Include name, organization, and contact information

National African HIV Initiative

New England Regional Summit

Sponsored by Multicultural AIDS Coalition—Africans For Improved Access Program, Lowell Community Health Center, African Services Committee, and Massachusetts Office of Immigrants and Refugees.

Funded by Office of Minority Health Resource Center and Massachusetts Department of Public Health.